Repair Schools in Santa Tonight on Xmas Vacation Downtown Streets

Board of Education Receives Report of Building Committee Showing Work Necessary at Several Schools—Dr. Michael Submits Report Showing Total Attendance of 4,140 Pupils.

Due to the illness of several members of the board and the absence from town of others only four members reported at an adjourned meeting of the board of education Friday evening. With the prospect of the lack of a quorum consequently no audit of the December payroll for the prospects of a bright Christmas for the teachers was dimmed. However, Dr. Michael in his usual way stepped into the breach and located Trustee Mathews and brought him to the meeting, saving the day.

A considerable amount of business was transacted by Trustees Beeres, Betz, Fowler, Mathews and President Flemming.

A communication was received from the Ulster County Council, Boy Scouts of America, asking permission to use the high school gym for a series of instruction meetings beginning January 10. There will be a series of six or twelve meetings held each Tuesday evening. The meetings are to instruct scout leaders and will be for older boys and adults. They requested the gym from 7:30 until 9:30 o'clock. As Tuesday is one of the night school dates, the board agreed to allow the use of the gym until 9 o'clock when the janitors leave at the conclusion of the school session. However, the board agreed to allow the use of the gym to start at 7 o'clock if desired. The permission was granted on condition that the light, heat and janitors' cost is paid. The amount was fixed at $5 a night.

Alumni Christmas Dance.
Kingston High School Alumni Association asked permission to use the gym for a Christmas dance on the evening of December 27 and at length requested they be allowed to dance until 12 o'clock. The permission of the board was granted but the time was fixed at 11:30 for closing in accordance with the rule of the board.

Prisma Society requested permission to use the gym on January 23 for their dance, the proceeds to go to the scholarship fund. Granted. Trustees Terry and Brinnier were appointed chaperons.

The Mendocino Club asked for the use of the high school auditorium for their first annual complimentary concert on February 24. Granted under the usual terms.

New Pianos Needed.
The condition of the piano in the high school gym was brought to the attention of the board. This instrument, which was given to the school some time ago, is beyond repair and has outlived its usefulness. The attention of the board was also called to the need of a piano in the high school studio. Mr. Stine, music director, needs a piano and has been renting one at $10 a month himself. It is impossible to use the auditorium piano at times when the oral English teacher is using the auditorium. The matter of both pianos was referred to the supplies committee to report back to the board.

The payroll amounting to $28,522.99 was audited as were bills amounting to $3,149.85.

More Students Expected.
Following the mid-year examinations Dr. Michael stated he expected at least 100 additional students at the high school. At present every available locker is in use. He requested the board to purchase additional lockers. There is space for 15 in the boys' department and an equal number in the girls' department. The matter was referred to the superintendent with power.

Building Committee Reports.
A report from the building committee was received and in regard to the repairs recommended it was decided they should be made during the Christmas vacation period. The report made by Mr. Beeres was considered and the repairs recommended were referred to the building committee to have the work done during the Christmas period. Several of the jobs will be put out to bid.

The report follows:
Your building committee respectfully submits the following report.

The rear section of the boiler in No. 4 school was found to be cracked and leaking badly shortly after the starting of the fire therein. This section was disconnected from the manifold and the openings properly plugged, thereby reducing the heating power of the plant. A new section has been ordered and delivered. This will be placed in position during the Christmas vacation.

We find three rooms in school No. 5 with insufficient radiation. To heat these rooms to 70 degrees in very cold weather it is necessary to force the fires resulting in the overheating of all other rooms, thereby consuming more coal than necessary in the proper amount of radiation was installed in these three rooms. A similar condition existed in three other rooms which has been remedied by additional radiation. We therefore recommend that sufficient radiation be placed in the three rooms during the Christmas vacation. We have an estimate from a competent plumber of $230 for complete installation in the three rooms.

When the new heating doors were installed in school No. 5, the radiation was somewhat reduced. We recommend that sufficient radiation be icy Sidewalk Friday Prevented Him from Walking Around, but He Will Be on Hand Early This Evening.

Santa Claus, who was unable to make his way about the city walks in the downtown section Friday, has informed the Downtown Business Men's Association that he will be in that vicinity tonight to take orders from the children. Santa told the merchants that he will start his campaign about the downtown streets early in the evening so that parents may take the little folks along while doing their shopping, and have them home in time to get the required number of hours' sleep.

Santa has proven popular with the children who followed him about the streets downtown for the past several days until the chilly rain of Friday. The jolly old fellow was kept off the streets on account of the icy condition of the sidewalks and his absence was felt by many little friends who wished to talk with him. He will have an extra quantity of note books to take orders from the children who interview him tonight.

Santa will visit the downtown section every day from now until Christmas. He will be out early in the afternoon so that children may talk with him after school. Santa will also make his round of the stores every evening.

He hopes that many will visit downtown to talk with him tonight.

Mrs. Snyder Asks Clemency Hearing

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, blonde haired slayer of her husband, has, through her counsel asked Governor Smith to grant a hearing on her plea for executive clemency, so that she may escape death in the electric chair.

Edward G. Griffin, legal adviser to the Governor, announced today that Edgar F. Hazelton, Mrs. Snyder's counsel had written to the executive asking that a hearing be granted and a date set.

The date will be fixed later by Governor Smith, who is now in New York. It is expected that the hearing will be held in the week beginning January 9, as it is customary for the Governor to hear such appeals early in the week fixed by the courts for the execution of the death sentence.

Mrs. Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, her paramour and accomplice in the slaying of the woman's husband, have been sentenced to pay the extreme penalty during the week of January 9.

Gray's appeal for a clemency hearing has not yet been received at the executive chamber.

This is half an hour later than usual.

Legion Seeks to Get Butler Here

It Possible To Make Arrangement, President of Columbia University Will Attend Forthcoming Reception to New Citizens—Many Activities Planned by Local Post.

At the regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Friday night, it was announced that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is expected to be the principal speaker at the forthcoming reception to new citizens at the high school some time in February.

In answer to a letter from Commander Heiselman, Dr. Butler stated that the Americanization program appealed to him strongly, and if it was possible for him to arrange to be here, he would do so. His letter gave the impression that he would make every possible effort to be here, although not promising definitely. A comprehensive program is being outlined by the committee for the reception of the new citizens, and it is felt that the presence of the noted head of Columbia would lend great prestige to the occasion.

Applications for Compensation.
Adjutant Eugene B. Carey wishes to bring to the attention of ex-service men and widows of deceased soldiers that January 1 is the last day on which application for compensation award may be made. Those interested in this matter may communicate with Mr. Carey who will gladly help them make out the application. After January 1 there will be absolutely no chance to secure the adjusted compensation for ex-service men or widows of the deceased.

The Near East Relief Committee sent a letter to the Legion through the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seelye, asking for aid for orphans in the Near East. It was voted to send sixty dollars, the amount asked for in the letter. The committee is caring for thirty thousand homeless children in the Near East, the letter stated. Sixty dollars will clothe and feed one child a year.

Ball Receipts $1,744.39.
A complete report of the Victory Ball receipts was turned in by George W. Potter, chairman of the committee. Net receipts for the ball were $1,744.39. Expenses to bring the radio show here totaled $1,075.

The Memorial Building has been painted throughout and it was agreed to open the building to public inspection some time in the near future.

The membership question, which had been eclipsed by the Victory Ball proceedings, was reopened for discussion. A meeting will be held January 5 to start the membership campaign all over again. The city will be divided into sections. One committee will campaign in the upper part of the city above the West Shore and another below the railroad. After the campaign a dinner will be held. If plans are not changed, the losing side arranged on one side of the table and the winners opposite. The winners will eat a chicken dinner and the losers baked beans.

A Mobilization Program.
A mobilization program was discussed which will turn out all Legion members in case of an emergency arising in the city, or county of Ulster. Arrangements are being made with the chief of police and fire department to formulate a given signal which will be understood by the Legionnaires in case their assistance is needed. Full details of the plan will be worked out shortly.

Boxing bouts held in the armory were discussed and it was decided to proceed with the boxing program. The next bouts are scheduled for December 28.

Orphanage at Quebec Again Swept by Fire

Academy of St. Louis and St. Jean Berchman's Pension Destroyed—Boys Escape Into Blizzard—Origin of Fire Not Clear—Fourteen of Orphanage Fire Unaccounted For.

Quebec, Dec. 17 (AP).—Quebec was excited today over the destruction of another children's home maintained by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. Their orphanage was destroyed Wednesday night with an estimated loss of fifty lives.

The building, the Academy of St. Louis and the St. Jean Berchman's Pension, was swept by flames last night as firemen were clearing the ruins of the Hospice St. Charles Orphanage where 36 bodies were recovered. Fourteen of the St. Charles Orphanage children were still unaccounted as the boys of the academy escaped into a blizzard.

The academy building is located within a stone's throw of the provincial legislative buildings and the homes of some of the most prominent people of the city, many of whose children attended the institution.

Fourteen boys who were in the dormitories of the six story building when the fire started reached safety, when by nuns, although two were slightly injured when they leaped into snow banks from windows. Two nuns suffering from burns were sent to a hospital after they had remained in the building to make sure all had escaped.

The origin of last night's fire, like that of the Hospice St. Charles, was not clear. Police said they had been informed that two men had been seen loitering the yard of the institution shortly before the blaze was discovered.

Damage was estimated at $250,000, partly covered by insurance. A verdict of accidental death was rendered by a coroner's jury in the fatalities of the Hospice St. Charles fire, although Chief Donnelly declared that had a night watchman been employed much of the loss of life might have been prevented. The coroner's jury suggested that "more effective supervision be exercised during the night and that automatic sprinklers be installed in all buildings of this kind."

Two Pedestrians Struck by Autos

Mrs. Ida Snyder of 164 Smith avenue and John F. Costello of 15 Shufeldt street were injured shortly after 5 o'clock Friday afternoon when they were knocked down by automobiles but were not seriously injured.

Mrs. Snyder was crossing the street on Broadway at Hoffman street, shortly after 5 o'clock and as it was raining she had her umbrella raised. As she started to cross the street she was struck by the automobile driven by Teofil Fronczkowski of 493 Delaware avenue and knocked down. Mr. Fronczkowski stopped his car immediately and picking up Mrs. Snyder hurried her to the office of Dr. A. H. Mambert on Broadway where she was examined by the physician who found that both of her knees had been lacerated and bruised. After being attended by the doctor Mrs. Snyder was taken to her home by Mr. Fronczkowski, who then reported the accident to the police.

John F. Costello was struck by the automobile driven by Leo Matheia of 17 East Chestnut street at Smith avenue and Grand street and was knocked down. He was taken to his home on Shufeldt street where it was found that he was bruised on the hip. Mr. Matheia in reporting the accident to the police stated that Mr. Costello had stepped out into the street directly in front of his car.

CHICAGO BANDITS GO CHRISTMAS "SHOPPING."

Chicago, Dec. 17 (AP).—Chicago stickup men did $110,000 worth of Christmas shopping yesterday, furs, jewelry and cash to that amount being taken in nine robberies.

Daring Burglary At Lake Katrine

Thieves Enter House of Mrs. Lucella Corra, Opposite Grange Hall, Bankrupt Rooms and Leave Hundreds of Lights Burning.

Thieves broke into the house of Mrs. Lucella Corra at Lake Katrine early Friday evening and removed a quantity of goods, mostly clothing. A radio set was ripped out and carried away although the thieves left the door open and batteries. A small quantity of jewelry was also taken.

Mrs. Corra and friends were in Kingston attending the theatre and on their return were surprised to see a light in the house. The front door was open, indicating that the burglars had left rather hurriedly after forcing their way into the house by means of a side window. An attempt had been made to open another window but without success. A catch was broken on one of the side windows, and entrance was gained through the window.

Everywhere about the house drawers were opened and the contents thrown about the floor. A quantity of men's clothing was taken and also a child's new dress. Indications in the house were that the thieves had worked leisurely in searching the house but the fact that the lights were still on and that the front door was open at the time the burglars were discovered led the authorities to believe the person or persons left hurriedly. This theory is borne out by the fact that several articles of considerable value were left behind.

The Corra house is located on the station road nearly opposite the Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

A report of the burglary was made to Sheriff Rice, and Under Sheriff Doyle and Deputy Ralph Constable made an investigation. State Troopers were also notified and are conducting an investigation. The authorities have been furnished with a partial list of the articles missing.

GIRL WAITS IN VAIN FOR $10,000 HUSBAND

Doylestown, Pa., Dec. 17 (AP).—Mary Graser, the 18-year-old Miss who offered herself in marriage to any man for $10,000, is still without a prospective husband.

All day yesterday she waited in vain for a proposal by mail. She was chagrined at the publicity given her action in asking for the $10,000 with which to purchase a new home for her parents and eight brothers and sisters and Christmas presents for the whole family, but said "I am really in earnest about the whole thing."

Despite the apparent shortage of $10,000 husbands she still holds to the two—the only two—conditions of her offer, that the man be honest and at least 5 feet, six inches tall.

$400,000,000 WORTH OF RADIO APPARATUS SOLD

New York, Dec. 17 (AP).—Nearly $400,000,000 worth of radio apparatus was sold by retail dealers during the past year, a survey of the radio industry indicates.

Roberts, president of the National Association of Music Merchants in the presenting the survey results to radio manufacturers yesterday. "With the piano, it constitutes the backbone of the musical life of the family."

Arraigned Here On "Dry" Charges

Peter Greco of Saugerties and Charles V. Hasselmann of Catskill Charged With Violating Volstead Law.

Federal agents Friday morning visited the cafe of Peter Greco on Partition street, Saugerties, and placed under arrest Greco and his bartender, William Walt, on a charge of violating the Volstead law. Both furnished bail in the sum of $500 and were released pending a hearing before United States Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly in this city today.

This morning before Commissioner Connelly both waived examination and gave bail in $500 to await the action of the federal grand jury in New York. They were represented by Andrew J. John M. Cashin of New York and Kingston represented Hasselmann, who gave bail in $500 to await a hearing before Commissioner Connelly in this city at 10 a. m. January 6.

No Record of Money Transfers

Telegraph and Cable Officials Say No Record Could Be Found of Money Transfers or Telegrams Between Mexico and U. S.

Washington, Dec. 17 (AP).—A group of telegraph and cable officials followed each other to the witness stand today to tell the Senate committee investigation the Hearst-Mexican slush fund documents that no record could be found of money transfers and telegrams which were purported to have passed between Mexico and the United States.

James E. Bresnahan, for the Western Union; Thomas Dowd, for the Postal and R. J. Hewitt, for the all-American Cables, were called in the committee's attempt to determine the authenticity of the documents which Miguel Avila claimed to have obtained from Mexico City and the Mexican consulate in New York for William Randolph Hearst.

Bresnahan did find messages to Arturo M. Elias, the Mexican consul general in New York, but the signatures were different from those held by the committee, and he reiterated no money was paid on them.

Heavy Snowfall In Buffalo Area

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 17 (AP).—The tail end of a storm area which today was central over northern Maine, left six inches of snow in this city and vicinity.

Although the weather bureau reported snow was falling generally over Lake Ontario and Western New York, none fell in Niagara Falls, and at Erie, Pa., the weather was reported as clear. The storm here hampered trolley and automobile traffic.

A southwest wind blowing 50 miles an hour at 8 a. m. had decreased to 25 miles an hour at 10 a. m. and the weather bureau said weather conditions would "tend to improve" throughout the day.

EIGHT INCHES OF SNOW AT SARANAC LAKE.

Local Firms Win Safety Trophies

Win Awards For Accident Prevention in State-wide Safety Drive—Many Industries of State Completed Three Months' Campaign Without Injury to Single Employee.

The general supervisory committee, in charge of the campaign, at a meeting just held at Buffalo, selected the winners from a total of 655 competing firms. There were 64 distinct groups in the contest. To the firm with the best record in each group a handsome trophy has been awarded, and to 179 additional firms, who completed the campaign without accident to an employee, certificates of merit engraved on parchment, have been issued.

The campaign, which started with the working day of September 4 and closed with the working day of December 3, enlisted firms in all lines of industry, the entrants being grouped in classes according to their size and the nature of their accident hazards. Each contesting firm reported its experience weekly to Associated Industries, the organization in turn compiling weekly a list of standings by classes and groups, based on the total amount of time lost through accidents to the total amount of time worked, or in cases of clean records, according to extent of man-hour exposure.

The general supervisory committee, in announcing the awards, states that the campaign as a whole showed a decided falling off in both accident frequency and severity from a similar campaign held last year, despite the addition this year of several groups of particularly hazardous industries and with more than twice as many firms enlisted.

The 655 firms competing worked a total of approximately 103,000,000 man-hours with a loss of time through accidents of less than one-third of one per cent of the total hours worked, a new record in accident severity for such a campaign. In all there were 233 firms of the 655 enlisted who completed the period with perfect scores, namely, without having reported a single accident severe enough to cause loss of time.

Organized Effort Prevents Accidents.
"The managements and employees of New York state industries have again proved that accidents can be prevented where there is organized effort in safety," said Maxwell S. Wheeler, vice-president of the Larkin Company, Buffalo, and president of Associated Industries. "Campaigns, such as the one just concluded, bring about a friendly rivalry between industries in which all employed in those industries join with a hearty and wholesome good will, knowing that the end sought is a relief from unnecessary pain, misery and economic loss occasioned by preventable accidents. Every accident which was prevented during this campaign meant a direct saving to the public, to the employees and to the industrial management. The saving in lives and limbs can only be conjectured, but if the law of averages is to be applied, then there are a large number of New York state workmen in our industries today who, had this cooperative effort in safety not been made, would have been killed or maimed in accidents during the last three months."

"The idea behind these annual prevention campaigns of Associated Industries is best expressed in the sentiment which is engraved on the trophies and certificates awarded to the winning firms:

"...and the end is that the workman shall live to enjoy the fruits of his labor; that his mother shall have the comfort of his arm in her clasp; that his wife shall not be a widow; that his children shall have a father and that cripples and hopeless wrecks, who were once strong men, shall no longer be a by-product of industry."

JONES DOES NOT EXPECT TO DEFEND BRITISH TITLE.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 17 (AP).—Bobby Jones said today that he did not expect to defend his title as British open champion next year or to play in the British amateur championship at St. Andrews.

"I will play in the United States open at Chicago in June, and the United States amateur at Braeburn, West Newton, Mass., in September," he said, "and that's all the competitive golf I can see ahead for the coming year."

Legal Tender

If a man owes you 20 cents and offers you six nickels in payment you will be within your rights by refusing to accept it and in demanding its equivalent in silver because 25 cents is the limit in nickels as legal tender; but if someone wants to give you 45 in nickels you can use your own judgment.

First of Vanderbilts

Builder and Fighter

Commodore Vanderbilt, who built the foundation of the family's wealth upon the bottom boards of the pirogue that piled the bay between Staten Island and Whitehall, appears to have been neither a lovable nor a great-hearted man. Arthur D. Howden Smith, in his biography of Vanderbilt, states specifically that he lacked those qualities, and calls him a man "who trampled ruthlessly upon all opposition, who had no spark of chivalry, but a man whose ambition was to build up, not to tear down. According to his own standards, an honorable man. And always a fighter; fighting for steamboats, fighting for railroads, fighting for life."

He won at both the fighting and the building. When his last illness was upon him he called his son, Billy, and said:

"Bill, I'm leavin' ye close to $90,000,000."

"Yes, father," answered Billy.

"What ye think the others are agoin' to say?"

"What can they say, father?"

"Wish I knew. There'll only be about $15,000,000 to divide among the lot of 'em."—Detroit News.

FAT FOLKS.

Our overweight friends will be interested in an experiment recorded from Copenhagen, Denmark.

A number of normal and overweight persons were examined by means of a self recording instrument, after they had for two days taken a diet consisting chiefly of starches, that is vegetables and bread.

It was found that in normal persons, the lungs got rid of vastly more waste matter than in those who were overweight.

What does this mean?

That the tissues in the heavy folks will take from the blood more of these starchy foods, and build them into fatty tissue in the body than will the tissues of those who are normal.

Now this is rather hard on the overweight folks, because they are so heavy that they are naturally inclined to rest more than others, because exertion really means more effort for them than for those who are normal.

And you can readily see that during all these hours that they rest, not only at night, but throughout the day, that their tissues keep steadily converting these starchy foods into fat.

Now why should this happen to these folks?

As mentioned before because the gland that speeds up action, the thyroid gland in the neck, does not give quite as much of its secretion to the blood as does the gland of a normal person.

Now what should be done by these overweight folks?

Three things. First, to remember that starchy foods, although good foods to maintain tissues and animal heat, nevertheless are particularly prone to make fat tissue.

Second, that long periods of rest, night or day, give the tissues a wonderful opportunity to build up fat.

Third, that exercise, by increasing the action of all the tissues and increasing the rapidity of the breathing, will be a great factor in "burning up" the starchy food, and thus preventing the formation of fat.

Now if an overweight individual has cut down on his starches, is active throughout the day, with regular hours for exercise, and still maintains or increases his weight, then he would be justified in consulting his physician regarding the use of thyroid extract.

Thyroid extract should not be used otherwise.

TOBACCO REVENUE.

The anti-tobaccoists who complain of the millions going up in smoke as pure waste seem to be unaware that the "filthy weed" performs notable service other than mere ministering to a "depraved appetite." To the United States treasury tobacco is a useful as well as a vast source of revenue. Of the total internal revenue of nearly three billion dollars for the fiscal year ending last June the tobacco tax contributed 12 per cent, and of all internal revenue (not including income tax) tobacco smoking contributed 58 per cent. The $376,000,000 thus derived equalled the whole internal revenue for the year 1911, and in one and two-thirds the amount received in that year from the tax on alcoholic liquors, or, as the "antis" would have it, what the government lost in taxing one "iniquity" it is largely making up in taxing another.

It appears that tobacco is by far the most heavily taxed of all the "luxuries." In 1925 the value of tobacco manufactures was estimated at $820,000,000 and the government's tobacco revenue amounted to $309,000,000, showing that 40 per cent of the consumers' outlay goes into the Federal treasury. It is interesting to find that of last year's tobacco revenue, exactly two-thirds was paid by cigarette smokers. In 1925 no less than 72 billion cigarettes were consumed. Twenty years ago, it is said, the American people smoked two cigars to one cigarette; now it is twelve cigarettes for every cigar. This is hard on the "antis," who, hating cigars and pipes, utterly abominate cigarettes. The war did not quite make the world safe for democracy, but it seems to have made the world more than safe for the cigarette, the enormous strides of cigarette smoking since being one of the marvels of the times.

"Gypsy Rover" Pleases Audience

Musical Comedy Presented by High School Pupils in Manner to Win Unqualified Praise From Those Who Attended Performance.

A large, appreciative and highly entertained audience gave an enthusiastic reception to the "Gypsy Rover" and his comrades at the Kingston High School on Friday evening. Certainly Conductor Leonard Hummel Stine, supervisor of music in the Kingston public schools, those who composed the cast of characters and the well trained choruses comprising the Musical Association of the high school, and composed of students from all high school classes, deserve warm words of commendation and even praise for the excellent manner in which they presented the very ambitious and pleasing musical comedy, "Gypsy Rover".

All lovers of music in the audience must have drawn sighs of relief and finally pleasure during the playing of the overture by the orchestra, led by Mr. Stine, for the instruments were in tune, solo passages stood out well and the instrumentation was well balanced. In fact the young conductor almost secured the unusual result for student orchestras, of getting his violins to bow together.

There was much musical and dramatic talent shown, and the staging of the various scenes was picturesque and colorful. The costuming of the various chorus groups, changed several times, added much to the true musical comedy effect.

"Bob", afterward Sir Gilbert Howe for the setting was an English one—was splendidly taken by Newell Lasher, and "Lady Constance", daughter of Sir George Martendale, was charmingly presented by Miss Genevieve Main. The solos sung by this hero and heroine were good, and their duets, sung with feeling, were particularly admirable.

One of the best characters was that of "Meg", Bob's foster mother, sung and acted with spirit and feeling by Edna Hall. "Marto", Meg's husband and a very good one at that, (Samuel Read), was scarcely recognizable in the funny scenes with "Zara", a gypsy lad in love with Zara (John Thompson) especially in their robber duet.

Considerable of the comedy was afforded by "Lord Craven", an English top, who with his "Doncha know" and monologues (James Halloran) got much applause. In fact one of the things that undoubtedly made the comedy go off so well was the enthusiastic appreciation of the audience, heartily expressed.

"Zara", the belle of the gypsy camp (Miss Caroline Port), was another favorite.

Another excellently well taken character was "Sir George Martendale", an English country gentleman and father of Lady Constance, who was presented with dignity by Alton Shader.

A dashing military gentleman in khaki, brass buttons and decorations, was "Captain Jerome", a captain in the English army, as taken by Frank Race.

The other members of the cast: "Nina", Sir George's second daughter (Miss Vivian Klotzel); "Sir Toby Lyon", a social butterfly (Harry Sussan); "Sir Francis McCorkle", a song publisher (John Mohr); "Lacker", (Clifford Miller), all took their parts so well as to add materially to the success of the performance.

One feature of the evening's entertainment deserving special mention was the comedy itself: a whole scene, pretty story, tuneful solo and duet parts and gay choruses and pleasing dances which really did delight the audience, and without any jazz element.

Following were the members of the choruses and orchestra:

Gypsy Chorus—Alice Freidell, Alberta Scheffel, Isabel Scudder, Doris Barnham, Mildred Gunzelmann, Irene Lane, Elizabeth Betz, Elizabeth Boere, Helen Beeres, Mary Clarke, Helen Rifenbary, Josephine Dutto, Ethel Osterling, Doris Nickerson, Edith Dunbar, Gertrude Cook, Alice Moffat, Winifred Bruce, Agnes Maroon, Harriet Edelstein, Anne O'Mara, Margaret O'Meara, Marjory Turner, Henry Abramowitz, Lauren Peters, George Williams, Raymond Reben.

Repair Schools in Xmas Vacation

placed in one of these connecting rooms that it may be sufficiently warm during cold weather. Estimate on the work at No. 6 is $34. Since the completion of the new toilets in school No. 6 one of the abandoned cloak rooms has been taken by the principal for his office and another abandoned cloak room, immediately under the principal's office has been used by the medical inspector and nurses for their work. The radiation in these two cloak rooms was never designed to bring the temperature up to that of the class rooms. It is estimated that the amount of radiation should be at least doubled in order to properly heat these two cloak rooms. The estimate for this work is $110.

Should the board determine to do all of this work during the vacation, the total cost will be about $474. The placing of electric outlets for the stereopticons in schools Nos. 3, 4, 5 and 8 has been awarded to A. H. Clark for $122.50.

A water pipe in school No. 2 leading to the teachers' rest room is so badly corroded that the water no longer flows. We recommend that this pipe be replaced with a new one and that a sink be installed in the room at a cost not to exceed $35.

An examination of the electric light system in the basement of the high school reveals the fact that the frigid air, the electric warmers, the dish washer in the kitchen of the cafeteria and other minor power plants have been connected to the light meter instead of the power meter. We recommend that these connections be transferred to the power meter.

We also discover that there is a waste of current from the fact that there is only one switch controlling the lights in two or three rooms.

For instance, one small room used for the girls' dining room must be used several periods a day as a study hall. The switch controlling the light in this room also controls the light in the adjoining room. This condition results in a waste of current. We recommend that switches be installed in each room so that when one room needs to be lighted, current will not be consumed in an adjoining room.

To transfer the current of the power apparatus in the cafeteria from the light meter to the power meter would mean a change from a 110 watt motor to a 220 watt motor. The estimated cost of all this electrical work in the basement of the high school is approximately $325, including the installation of new motors.

The following comparative statement will show the increasing use of the high school library by students. The table covers practically the same period of time, viz: Sept. 13 to Dec. 10, in 1926 and 1927:

Total number of students using the library for reference or reading	12,019	13,784
Average number students using library for one day	194	222
Books issued for home use	1,854	1,774
Average number of books issued per day	30	29

There are a little over three thousand volumes in the library, mostly books of reference in history, English, economics and civics.

Lighting Contest Prizes Exhibited

Necessary to Have Only a Very Simple Lighting Effect to Enter a Residence in Local Christmas Lighting Contest.

The three prizes for the residential Christmas Lighting Contest of the Electric Service League of Kingston have been received and will be on exhibition in the display window of S. Cohen's Sons at 331 Wall street, where they will remain for several days. These prizes are well worth winning and consist of the following desirable electric appliances:

First prize—Electric percolator set, with percolator, cream pitcher, sugar bowl, and tray.

Second prize—Electric waffle iron set, with waffle iron, batter pitcher, sugar shaker and tray.

Third prize—Sunbeam electric toaster.

The rules for this contest, which closes on December 22 are very easily carried out and it is necessary to have only a very simple lighting effect in order to enter a residence in the contest. Lighted wreaths in the windows or on the porch; a single lighted evergreen tree, either growing on the grounds or set up as desired on building or grounds; red and green lights substituted for the customary white ones in the regular porch lighting fixtures with Christmas tree lights draped about door or windows; colored lights in window boxes or shrubbery on the grounds—an installation that consists of a lighting decoration as unpretentious as any one of the above suggestions is eligible to enter the contest.

Already the city is aglow with holiday lighting, and decorated residences will become a part of the beauty that now shines forth in the business sections. From the downtown section where the Downtown Business Men's Association has arranged streamers of colored lights festooned about the streets, which are also decorated with holiday greens, and where a community Christmas tree gleams forth in all its glory, through the central portion of Broadway, where individual merchants have set up lighted trees on the sidewalk, to the uptown business section where the Uptown Business Men's Association has placed two lighted trees on each pole and has set up on Wall street another community tree, resplendent with red and green lights—the city is arrayed in a holiday garb of graceful greens and radiant lights.

The events will be the same as last year: 20 yard dash, running high jump, standing broad jump, and six potato races.

their preliminaries Wednesday, December 28, at 10 a. m. and Schools No. 4, 5, 7 and 8, Friday, December 30, at 10 a. m.

The finals will be held Monday, January 2, at 10 a. m. The three first place men from each school will be eligible for the finals.

The Boys' Division of the Y. M. C. A. will give a bronze "Y" medal to the individual winner of each event in the finals and there will be a trophy for the school which wins the meet.

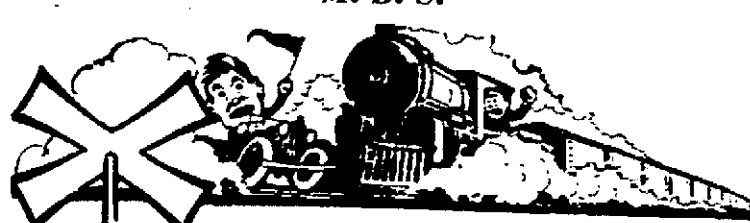

CHIC-CHIC REVUE TO CLOSE TONIGHT

The Chic-Chic Revue, starring George Rubin and Lew Williams, will be staged for the final time tonight at the Broadway Theatre after a week's engagement. Both men have been pleasing large audiences throughout the week and the closing of the show tonight is expected to draw a large assemblage of theatregoers. Both comedians, well known in Kingston, say their stay here has been an enjoyable one and hope that they will please large audiences when they return in the future with a retinue of novelties.

135,000 Jews, Ruined Three Years Ago,
Successful Farmers On Russian Steppes

Results Achieved by World War and Pogrom-Victims with Aid of American Brethren Wins World-Wide Applause

ON the steppes of the Ukraine and Crimea, which have lain fallow since the revolution, 25,000 Jewish families, about 135,000 souls, of the cities and towns of Russia, by economic necessity have during the past three years established themselves as farmers, and their helplessness, as jobless, hopeless city dwellers has been transformed into an energetic determination to succeed as tillers of the soil, and build a new, independent life for themselves and their posterity.

In this enterprise, which has won the applause of the whole civilized world, they have been helped by their American and Canadian co-religionists who, during the past two years have, through the United Jewish Campaign, headed by David A. Brown, of Detroit, subscribed over $20,000,000 for reconstructive relief of the Jews of Russia, Poland, Rumania and other overseas countries crushed by the World War and all the horrors that followed in its wake. The various projects for rehabilitating the Jews abroad with the funds supplied by American Jews are being carried out through the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee. The Russian government has given the land, affords cheap transportation and supplies timber for house building. The area cultivated by the Jewish farmers on the Russian steppes, already totals over 1,000,000 acres and as much more is available for thousands of additional Jews who are moving toward the soil.

$7,500,000 in cash by the end of 1925 is required for this and the other reconstructive relief measures for European Jewry and steps are being taken by Mr. Brown to speed up the payment of pledges. Installments so that the reconstructive program of the Joint Distribution Committee may be completely carried out.

Yes, Cub Rooter Has No Bananas

Theodore Rooter, a well-known fruit dealer, not only has his own money but let his wife have a banana. He was the only one to do so in the National League game.

This was the plan he made in bankruptcy proceedings. When the Cubs were in the lead he began plugging on the daily games and the pennant race. He lost upwards of $500 a day on the games and $100,000 on the race. He gave his assets as $120,000 and liabilities $120,000.

Millionaire Grigger

On Notre Dame's football team is a man who has $5,000,000, but that does not make him superior, either as a student, or player to many other Irish athletes who are working their way through school. Rockne did not disclose the name of his millionaire athlete, but from Notre Dame it was learned that he must have referred to Fred Miller, regular left tackle and one of the best linemen on the squad. Miller's home is in Milwaukee, Wis. The photograph shows Miller in football togs.

"Duffer" Termed Golf

Backbone by Bob Jones

The world's most famous golf balls the "duffer" as the "backbone of the game."

Bobby Jones, in a plea for more and better opportunities for public indulgence in the pastime, told an Atlanta club at its weekly luncheon that it's not the champions and near champions who "make golf" but the average player—the duffer if you wish to call him so.

"Golf tends to get out of perspective in these days," he said. "The newspapers set a fictitious value on title tournaments. It is the average golfer, who composes our clubs and builds our courses, that makes it possible for relatively few championship contenders to appear on front pages and be heralded as champions."

"The backbone of golf is now and always will be the average golfer."

Booking Agency Would Solve Manager Nuisance

A booking agency for boxers would be the ideal solution for the manager nuisance.

Boxers could be booked like vaudeville actors are.

The booking agency would deduct 5 per cent of a boxer's earnings.

Promoters would deal directly with the booking agency for matches.

The boxer's interests would be guarded far better than they are by managers, and promoters would have a much easier time conducting their business.

And boxing would be rid of what is probably the worst menace the game has today.

Low Blow Saves Title for Morgan

New York, Dec. 17 (AP).—Tod Morgan of Seattle, Wash., was still king of the junior lightweights today but only after a terrific battle with Joe Gluck, Brooklyn challenger, who lost the match on a foul in the fourteenth round of a fifteen-round title bout.

Meeting for the second time in little more than a year, Gluck carried a savage punching attack against the champion in Madison Square Garden last night and had piled up a big advantage on points when Morgan was awarded the decision on account of a low blow.

Izzy Schwartz of New York qualified for recognition as flyweight champion by the New York State Athletic Commission by receiving a decision over Newsboy Brown of Sioux City, Iowa, in a fifteen-round semi-final. Schwartz weighed 108½ lbs. Brown 111½.

AMSTERDAM QUINTET SEEKS GAMES HERE

The Amsterdam Lighttags, one of the fastest amateur teams in the Mohawk Valley, are making their drive to fill out a road schedule and would like to hear from some fast teams in Kingston and vicinity, the Red Shields especially. The Amsterdam team has captured the amateur championship of the capital district for the past three seasons and would like to stack their wares against teams in lower New York averaging anywhere from 135 pounds up to 150 pounds. The team is outfitted in new uniforms of the very latest styles, being especially designed by the Lighttags themselves, and will no doubt attract a lot of attention on visiting courts.

Five years of playing together have made the Lighttags one of the smoothest machines in the amateur division, so any team booking them can figure on forty minutes of swift action. Teams desiring games should write to Elmer Road, 63 Mechanic street, Amsterdam, N. Y.

GLOVERSVILLE WITHDRAWS FROM VOLLEY LEAGUE

There will be no game here today between Kingston and Gloversville volley ball players. The latter team withdrew from the Northeastern District Y. M. C. A. League which gives Kingston five games to the good by forfeit. The local team and Amsterdam now top the other teams in the district. Gloversville was counted one of the strongest teams in the league and Kingston previously expected a hard struggle today. The team put a crimp in Kingston's chances in the semi-finals for supremacy in the Northeastern District contests last year.

Takes His Hat Off to No Man

Princess, N. Y., Dec. 17 (AP).—Thomas Hearons, 74-year-old millionaire, "takes his hat off to no man," not even to his newest son-in-law, Prince Alexander Turin-Oriani.

The Hearons family sent four daughters into the world who have achieved success as the Hearons sisters. They toured the United States and gave concerts in the chief capitals of Europe. Anna, pianist of the quartet, met Prince Turin and was married to him in New York in March, 1926.

The Prince and Princess Turin have not yet visited this village where the latter's father is anxiously awaiting their promised arrival. They are now in America, but are touring the eastern coast.

"When he comes," Thomas Hearons says, "there'll be no frills. He'll take what I've got, just as my other sons-in-law do. I take my hat off to no man."

Prince Turin is characterized by press in recent interviews as a "man of aristocratic, liberal and democratic ideals." His ancestral home is in the former republic of Georgia, southern Russia. He was given out of the state by the Soviet government, which also confiscated all fields owned by his family.

FITTING COMPANIONS
FOR EVERY MAN

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Is it, perhaps, the extra Christmas lighting that makes radio reception so weak in the early evening? The conditions existing here are reported from various other cities. How about reception in the country, away from any influence of extra lights?

After the blanching of most stations in the early evening Friday had ended it was not difficult to tune in many DX stations, with the south especially strong. WSB was as loud as WJZ. The latter was not as strong as usual, it being WJZ's night to roar.

The various booster programs included efforts to sell typewriters, watches, candy, rugs, ice cream and soap, not forgetting the efforts of the laxative lady early in the evening to promote the sale of the preparation that children cry for.

Will Rogers, Fred Stone, Paul Whiteman and Al Jolson in four different corners of America will be broadcast to the entire United States by Dodge Brothers for one hour, tentatively to eleven-thirty, on January 4, in what is the greatest mechanical achievement in radio-telephony ever attempted and probably the costliest radio program yet given.

The Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, three of Cincinnati's municipal musical organizations, and several prominent soloists will join in a tremendous Christmas festival concert, to be broadcast by WLW on Sunday, December 18. WLW will pick up the program from Music Hall at 9:15 p. m. and will broadcast the second half of the public concert during the time regularly devoted to the Crosley Bandbox Hour. The Christmas Festival will be made up of soloists and chorus from Cincinnati's famous May Festival; from the Orpheus Club, a chorus of Cincinnati business and professional men who recently broadcast through WLW a program of which Madame Mac Beth was the guest soloist and from the Mothersingers, a women's chorus. Other smaller vocal groups will contribute singers.

Tachakowsky's world famous "Overture to the Nutcracker" at the sublime musical composition of the last hundred years rarely performed at all and never before broadcast on the air, is one of two unusual features of the Christmas program. The series of General Motors "Family Parties" on Monday evening, December 19. The other is the presentation of the great symphony, Emilio de Gogorza, a group of popular classical songs added for good measure as a special attraction for radio listeners at the opening of Christmas week.

Special Currency for Use of Dead Chinese

The spirits of China are extravagant, according to a correspondent of the Pathfinder Magazine. Some $100,000 is sent them a year in "ghost money" or just tin foil money. Do not get the impression that ghost money is real Chinese money. It is not even metal coins. Ghost money is paper money—tin foil money—which need only be burned to become the standard currency of the dead. This money is seen all over China.

Sometimes whole trunks of the paper money are burned before the dead man's shrine. But this money is just as important as a means of providing a livelihood for the thousands of the living as it is for paying off extravagant spirits. The tin foil used is made in the prosperous shops in the town of Shaoching, where thousands of strong men and women are employed to beat the tin foil, fold the finished product and paste it into the little silver shoes. Making ghost money is indeed a large industry in China. Some of the larger shops in Shaoching do a business of from $700,000 to $800,000 a year. After these paper shoes are burned the living worshippers gather up the ashes and sell them to the shops that extract the tin to be used in new ghost money.

USED HER BEAUTY TO AID IN BURGLARIES

"Countess" Made German Youths Help in Theft.

Berlin—It was immediately after the war, in those hectic days when everything turned upside down in Germany, that the name of Countess Colonna was first heard, and the countess herself was first seen in the circle of young aristocrats who tried to forget the grim realities of life by indulging in wild orgies in the night cabarets of Berlin, while in the streets were rattling the machine guns of the revolution, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Nobody knew exactly who she was. No titled family with the name of Colonna lived in Germany, and the only Count Colonna known in Berlin was an elderly man living temporarily in Switzerland. Countess Colonna said she was the daughter of this man and the younger bloods who swarmed around her did not bother to investigate.

She was of matchless beauty, with brilliant blond hair and large, radiant, hypnotic eyes. Her figure was of artistic perfection and her long, shapely hands suggested aristocratic lineage. Men who came in contact with her were spellbound by this demonic beauty.

Had Luxurious Apartment. She had a luxuriously furnished apartment in one of Berlin's fashionable quarters, lived on a grand scale and seemed to be the queen of a gay circle which always formed a bodyguard around her when she visited the night clubs or cabarets.

There was nothing about Countess Colonna to arouse suspicion of the police regarding her life or her activities.

It was one of the worst periods of lawlessness in the history of the German capital. Robberies, holdups, burglaries, murders were all in the day's work and the police could hardly cope with this sudden crime wave.

One gang particularly caused worry to the Berlin police, a gang of astonishingly bold criminals who committed an incredible number of bold holdups and burglaries. The victims of this gang were invariably persons of high social standing, rich men who gambled for big sums in clubs and persons whose apartments were full of treasures.

A special squad of detectives was assigned to the case, and Albert Detmann, famous leader of the detective force, personally headed the investigation. Every effort, however, had failed, when chance led to the uncovering of an unexpected sensation and the solution of the first Colonna mystery.

One night, it was in the spring of 1919, the same gang which had robbed so many homes and apartments, plundered the house of one of the best-known Berlin art collectors, a man of high social position and a bachelor, who had been seen many times in the company of the Countess Colonna. His priceless paintings, antique rugs and golden statuettes were thrown out of the window by the burglars, whose accomplices waited outside in an automobile. They must have made too much noise, for a policeman became suspicious, ran to the house and arrested there first of the burglars, jumped into their car and sped away.

Police Arrest Suspect. One of the burglars, however, was not quick enough. His car was captured and brought before the Detmann who was arrested to learn that the burglar was a German nobleman, descendant of a noble and old family. The young man refused to answer Detmann's questions in his native language, but he was able to communicate in such that Detmann summoned a physician, who established the fact that the young man was being under the influence of some irresistible force. All Detmann was able to squeeze out of him was a telephone number. It proved to be that of the Countess Colonna.

It developed that the victim of the latest robbery was in love with the beautiful Colonna and had an appointment with her on the same night that his apartment was robbed. The countess had promised to visit him and asked him to send away his servants because she did not wish to be seen by anybody. Later in the evening she called up, saying that she did not feel well, and asked the enamored art collector to call at her home. When he returned he found the apartment robbed. The young man, under arrest, finally confessed, and the other members of the band, including Colonna, were captured.

"Countess Colonna," it turned out, was a Berlin girl, the daughter of an architect, whose parents died during the war, leaving the young girl penniless. Her name was Ella Bach. She was beautiful, had a fine voice, and because she had always wanted to go on the stage, she tried her luck with one of the cabarets of the German capital.

While she was not a great success on the stage, her conquests in the field of love were decisive. Men who saw this beauty fell madly in love with her.

Urge Motorists to Get Licenses Now

The situation applications for motor vehicle licenses at the local motor vehicle bureau on Fair street are not up to expectations and this is an indication that the usual last minute rush will ensue when it is time to stand in line during the last few days before January 1, 1928, when motor vehicles to be operated legally must have the 1928 license plates attached.

The estimate of the state motor vehicle bureau is that there are 15,000 passenger cars in Ulster county and 5,000 commercial cars.

and that number of plates have been sent to the local bureau.

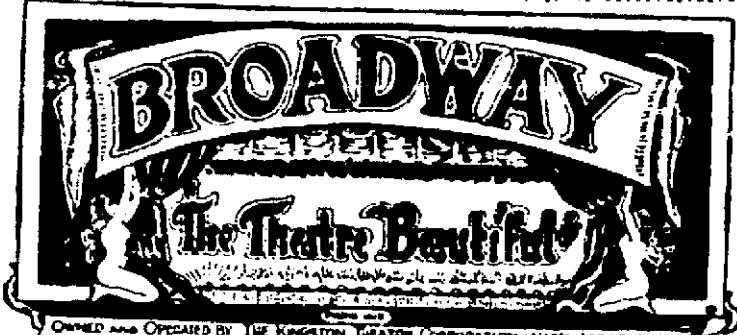

Up to Thursday afternoon there had been issued 1,000 license plates for passenger cars and 500 for commercial cars.

After today there will be only one full day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to obtain license plates at the local bureau as the office closes at noon on Saturday, December 24, and will be closed all day December 25, to observe Christmas.

The last day for renewing this year will be Tuesday, December 20, and there will be none here until January 10.

Financial and Commercial
New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures were again at work in today's money market, which gave another impressive demonstration of strength in the face of rather heavy cash and futures. Higher orders were distributed over a broad lot but the copper public utility, tobacco and other commodities were made the best group. However, trading was unusually heavy volume for a last business session.
Stocks advanced in the upper market was reflected in the heavy advance of those shares. Automobile, cement and Arizona, Chile, Great Lakes and Nevada all advanced and high priced General Motors and United States Steel common leaders in the upward movement, ran into profit taking and could make little headway.
Public utilities moved forward under the leadership of the western company stocks, particularly Pacific coast and Southern California Edison Consolidated Gas led the advance in the utilities which were also featured by a brisk recovery in Porto Rican R. which slumped badly earlier in the week.
The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

POULTRY
Kresge Denies Wife's Charges
BIG MONTHS IN EGG PRODUCTION
Fall and winter months may be termed the "good months" in poultry culture for the reason that the big difference in production between heavy laying flocks and flocks which are not profitable comes during that season of the year. Almost any healthy hen will lay well toward spring.
It is an established fact that a flock must average approximately 100 eggs per hen per year in order to return the owner a profit. The difference between the monthly egg averages of good flocks and poor flocks comes mainly during the fall and winter months. In other words, the owners of profitable flocks have utilized methods which increase production at a time of year when fresh eggs are scarce and therefore higher in price.
Early hatches of early maturing birds could be set down as one of the most important points in getting better fall and winter production. Pullets that start laying during the latter part of October are from hatches that came before May 1, usually before April 1. They are birds that have been well fed and are fully developed. Good birds of this character will produce greatly over 100 eggs per year if they are properly fed and housed.
Proper feeding and housing are the second factors that must receive attention in order to get a good yield of fall and winter eggs. Hens will lay in the spring on a straight grain ration. At that time they are answering nature's demands and will lay if conditions are at all suitable. However, after the normal laying season is over, it is correspondingly hard to secure heavy production. This can only be done by using a ration that supplies plenty of animal protein, minerals, and succulent feed in addition to grain, which is needed as the basis of all rations. Houses must be warm, well ventilated and comfortable. In other words, the hen must be fed and managed so that she will feel like keeping right on with her egg production.
Parasites and diseases are the third source of trouble. Nothing will stop a good laying flock quicker than a lot of troublesome mites that make the birds want to leave their regular houses and roost in the trees.

Preparing for Winter Around Poultry House
A thorough cleaning of the poultry house should take place at this time of year in preparation for winter. The clean-up should consist of removing nests, roosts, hoppers, drinking stands and all other equipment from the house. Each should get a thorough scrubbing with water and some good disinfectant. The house itself should be swept, ceilings, walls and floor. The floor should be well scraped clean of all hard, dried litter and droppings. Dirt floors should have at least six inches of the old dirt taken off and replaced with six inches of clean dirt.
The final clean-up step should be a thorough spraying of the inside of the house with some good disinfectant. Whitewash helps to brighten a dark house and a freshly whitewashed house has a tendency to encourage its owner to keep it looking clean for some time to come.

Poultry Facts
A young pullet is like a young grouse or quail and will hide when scared. They do not make any noise at all when they hide from a supposed enemy and are very hard to find.
Some poultrymen place a large box of coal or wood ashes in each section of their laying houses. The hens dust in the ashes and undoubtedly remove many body lice by the process.
Feeding whole, dry oats as a large part of or all whole grain ration is poor business. Even though the oats are plump and bright, the hulls make them poor feed except in limited quantities.
The Missouri College of Agriculture has recently completed some experiments in which they find that in feeding hens, soy-bean meal may be used in place of meat scrap, thereby reducing the cost of feed. They also found it paid to feed mineral.
While the hen isn't exactly a grazing animal, she does truck a lot of grass under her belt during a summer day. And when she can't get it, she must have sprouted oats, cabbage, mangels, or such, if she's going to gladden you with eggs.
If we expect winter eggs we must produce our pullets from hens that are bred to lay during the winter.
Thoroughly spraying the poultry house, especially the roosting and laying quarters, with crude oil or coal oil will destroy the red mites.
The period when pullets start laying is a critical one. Pullets which are due to begin to lay at freezing weather usually wait until spring. This means an entire loss for several months.
Name Is Appropriate
The humming noise which gives humming birds their name is made by the wings. These beat the air with such extreme rapidity that the birds are able to stand still or poise in the air.

Kresge Denies Wife's Charges
Last Wants To Be Free, He Says in Affidavit Filed in Answer to Wife's Charges in Her Suit to Divorce Him.
New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—While Sebastian M. Kresge, 41, wealthy chain store operator, was giving huge sums to charities he was indulging in secret affairs with two women, one a girl of seventeen, counsel for Mrs. Doris M. Kresge said in her plea for counsel fees to prosecute her suit for divorce.
In a hearing preliminary to Mrs. Kresge's divorce action, her counsel yesterday told of a raid on an apartment off Fifth avenue in which he said Kresge under the name of Jones, was found with a girl whom he identified as Miss Gladys Ardelle Fish, 24-year-old stenographer, formerly of Natick, Mass. The girl was named as correspondent, and indiscretions with an unidentified 17-year-old girl were also charged.
Walter J. Lynch, Mrs. Kresge's lawyer, said Kresge lived in New York from December of last year to April of this year with Miss Fish, a sister of a girl employed by one of the Kresge stores and known to her associates as the "Princess".
Max D. Steiner, Kresge's counsel, said the merchant is agreeable to a divorce but makes a general denial of his wife's charges, which were described by Steiner as efforts at "brown-baiting".
"I want to be rid of her. I want to be free," an affidavit by Kresge said, in reference to his wife.
Parents Deny Charges.
Natick, Mass., Dec. 17 (AP)—Denial was made by Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Fish of this town that their daughter, Gladys Ardelle Fish, had been caught in a New York apartment with Sebastian M. Kresge, as charged by counsel for Mrs. Kresge in her divorce proceedings. They asserted that the young woman and Kresge were "mere friends", having met through attendance at the same church in New York. Fish said that Gladys had been working in New York as a secretary for the last two years. He said that until last summer she worked for Mark Temple Dowling, real estate operator, but he refused to give the name of his present employer. Dowling testified at a bankruptcy hearing in New York yesterday that his business had been conducted by a young woman secretary whose address he did not know.

The other officers elected were: Associate matron, Mrs. Lena M. Gildersleeve; treasurer, Mrs. Edith A. Potter; secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Terwilliger; conductress, Miss Marguerite Lencke; associate conductress, Mrs. Marion Hudler; trustee, Mrs. Jennie L. S. Main. The newly elected worthy matron will name her appointive officers at the next meeting of the chapter. The newly elected officers will be installed at the meeting to be held Friday evening, January 6. At the close on the business session a pageant was given by the officers of the chapter and the worthy matron presented each officer with a gift. In spite of the inclement weather the chapter session was largely attended and at the close of the program a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The reports of the retiring officers showed that the chapter had enjoyed a prosperous and active year with a number of new members added to the roster.

Papal Court Bows to New Order of Things
The oldest court in the world has been touched by democracy. The Vatican, which held aloof for so long, has become more or less responsive to the new order of things that seems to be reaching around the entire world.
For a long time this huge palace was illuminated only by candles after they had become obsolete elsewhere. Now electric bulbs gleam everywhere. Steel pens were not used here—perhaps the Vatican was the last place in the world to demand that documents be written and signed with a quill—but now even the typewriter has penetrated the forbidden doors. The huge place was cold in winter, but tradition allowed no artificial heat until a certain date, quite irrespective of the temperature. Now there are radiators everywhere.
The Vatican court is the oldest in the world, yet an audience at this court is more easily obtained than elsewhere. Here one realizes the effect of the democratic idea. In the older days when his holiness "commanded" anyone to appear before him, spectacularly dressed guards planted the poles of their spears beside the entrance to one's hotel and delivered the message that named the day and the hour. Very different now—one merely makes application for the audience at the American college in Rome or at the American embassy and the "command" is delivered. Even the former stimulation of toll being has been abandoned.—From "Seeing Italy," by E. M. Newman.

Rebuke That Stung
It is related that a certain man, who apparently didn't like Buddha, came up to him and called him a lot of very ugly names. Buddha listened quietly until his reviler had quite run out of epithets, and then said to him: "If you offer something to a man, and he refuses it, to whom then, does it belong?"
The man replied: "It belongs, I suppose to the one who offered it."
Buddha said: "The abuse and vile names you offer me, I refuse to accept."—From The Outlook.
